

Do you need IATA Dangerous Goods Training?

We can help your business understand and apply the IATA Dangerous Goods Regulations - improving safety and efficiency.

Ascent is an experienced and trusted provider of innovative training systems, employing 410+ staff in the UK.

We operate primarily within the UK Aerospace and Defence sector, delivering aviation training to all three UK Armed Forces, with a wealth of experience built over decades of flying operations.

A successful programme depends on the skills and experience of the people delivering the training. That's why the Ascent team meets and exceeds the regulatory requirements of UK military and civil air authority operations and equivalent regulatory bodies worldwide. With clients from a range of industries - including aviation, power, emergency services and military - Ascent's bespoke training packages are tailored to suit your specific needs.
